DETAILED ACTION

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed on 08/15/2007 in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 08/15/2007 has been entered.

Claims 24 – 33 are pending.

2. This Office Action will be in response to Applicant's amendment and arguments, filed on 08/15/2007.

The rejections of record can be found in the previous Office Action, mailed on 02/28/2007.

The rejections of record have been withdrawn in view of Applicant's amendment and arguments.

It is noted that New Grounds of Rejection are set forth herein.

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Art Unit: 1644

4. Claims 24 – 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claims contain subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to practice the invention.

The specification does not enable one of skill in the art to practice the invention as claimed without undue experimentation. Factors to be considered in determining whether undue experimentation is required to practice the claimed invention are summarized in In re Wands (858 F2d 731, 737, 8 USPQ2d 1400, 1404 (Fed. Cir. 1988)). The factors most relevant to this rejection are the scope of the claim, the amount of direction or guidance provided, limited working examples, the unpredictability in the art and the amount of experimentation required to enable one of skill in the art to practice the claimed invention.

The specification does not provide a sufficient enabling description of the claimed methods, because the specification does not provide a sufficient enabling description of the recited polypeptide of SEQ ID NO:4 which has the ability to upregulate T cell proliferation, production of the recited cytokines, or antibody secretion by B cells.

The recited polypeptide of SEQ ID NO:4, which the inventors call B7-H2s, appears to be a form of a polypeptide known in the art as PD-L2 (or B7-DC or CD273). PD-L2 is a negative regulator of T cells, i.e. it inhibits T cell proliferation and cytokine production (reviewed e.g. by Greenwald et al., 2005, Annu. Rev. Immunol., 23: 515 – 548; see entire document, in particular, e.g. pages 527 – 535; more specifically page 529). Although there are some indications that under certain conditions PD-L2 can modestly enhance T cell proliferation, even under these conditions there is little effect on IL-2 or IL-4 production (ibid). Therefore, one of skill in the art is not enabled to make and use the polypeptide with the recited functional properties, and hence to practice the claimed methods.

5. Conclusion: no claim is allowed.
